THE GREAT STRIKES.

The Fight Between the Chicago Packers and Their Men on a More Technicality.

The reply of Mr. Johnson to the attack of the Herald will be read with interest by all who care to investigate the matter. The reply is a clear, plain statement of the case, and will convince any unprejudiced mind that he did his whole duty in the matter, and has nothing to complain of from the public.

One of the stories going the rounds of the country is that Thomas L. Evans is less popular among his fellow teachers in Decatur than Mr. Donahue. Of course this is not true, but it is all the same if it serves its purpose. The teachers of Decatur know Mr. Evans and his work, and they do not know much of Mr. Donahue. Those of the Decatur teachers who are not Democrats will support Mr. Evans. The Democrats among them, if any such there be, will probably vote the other way, but even that is not certain. At any rate, Mr. Evans will be elected.

Anson H. Miller, the next county judge, is an able and successful lawyer, even if he is a young man, and against his integrity and uprightness of character not a word can be urged. He has been in active public life for a good many years, having been thrown upon his own resources at a very early age, and wherever he has lived he has maintained a reputation second to none. And that reputation is uprightness will now bring him votes where it has heretofore only brought him friends and admirers. He will be elected, of course.

John Maury will be elected, along with the balance of the Republican ticket, because he is so well qualified for the office that nothing can be urged against him. The people all believe this, and the pro-poor can not be hoodwinked into going against a man of that kind. He knows all about the duties of sheriff, by his long experience as deputy, and his intercourse with the public has always been that of the courteous, obliging, painstaking officer. And the people never forget that, either.

Chicago Journal: Gen. W. H. F. Lee, a son of Robert E. Lee, the Confederate General, is the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Alexandria district, Virginia. In his speech accepting the nomination he referred to the "Northern hounds who a few years ago overran, plundered and devastated the fair county of Culpepper with regard to the law and practices of war." It was openly and loudly charged that his nomination was procured by trickery, and falsehood. But Lee's speech was received with such roars of enthusiastic applause as to drown the cheer of the cheated and "kicking" rebel Southerners around him. He had proclaimed a sentiment dear to every Southern Democratic heart and that covered from their eyes a multitude of offenses.

Meets of Queenbury rules, scientific points to count, for the championship, will be given to the door. Prof. McCoy is a member of the N. Y. Knickerbocker Club, and new institutions have been made. An exhibition of the upper hand will be a friendly character, and a record will be preserved. There will be over one thousand athletes exhibiting, six in competition with the entertainment. Popular prices.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—One hundred additional Pinkerton men arrived at the improvised barracks in the stock yards last evening. The force now numbers 450 men. The strike came before the Trades' assembly yesterday and raised quite a commotion. T. S. Lyons introduced a resolution holding P. D. Armour responsible for the strike and at the bottom of the trouble. The resolution also called on the assembly to use its influence to induce all persons not to trade at shops where Armour's meat is sold. The introduction of the resolution brought a number of delegates to their feet in anger. A. C. Cameron vehemently asserted that there was not a scintilla of proof to show that the strike was more than culminating the other's demand, and he opposed to shouting out one man and destroying his business when others were deep in the mud as he is in the mire.

Another delegate said the stock yard employees had neither asked nor taken such action yet, and when they did it would be time for the assembly to act.

Acting under instructions from General Master Workman Powderly, T. P. Barry will, contrary to an announcement, remain in the city, but will go to New Orleans and continue his efforts to bring about a peaceful settlement.

Baltimore and Orange, the two nearest points of any size, are converted into veritable hospitals and havens of refuge, and their people are doing all that human power can possibly do in such dire circumstances. The steamer Laura to-day brought to Orange several bodies of men, some of whom were buried at sea.

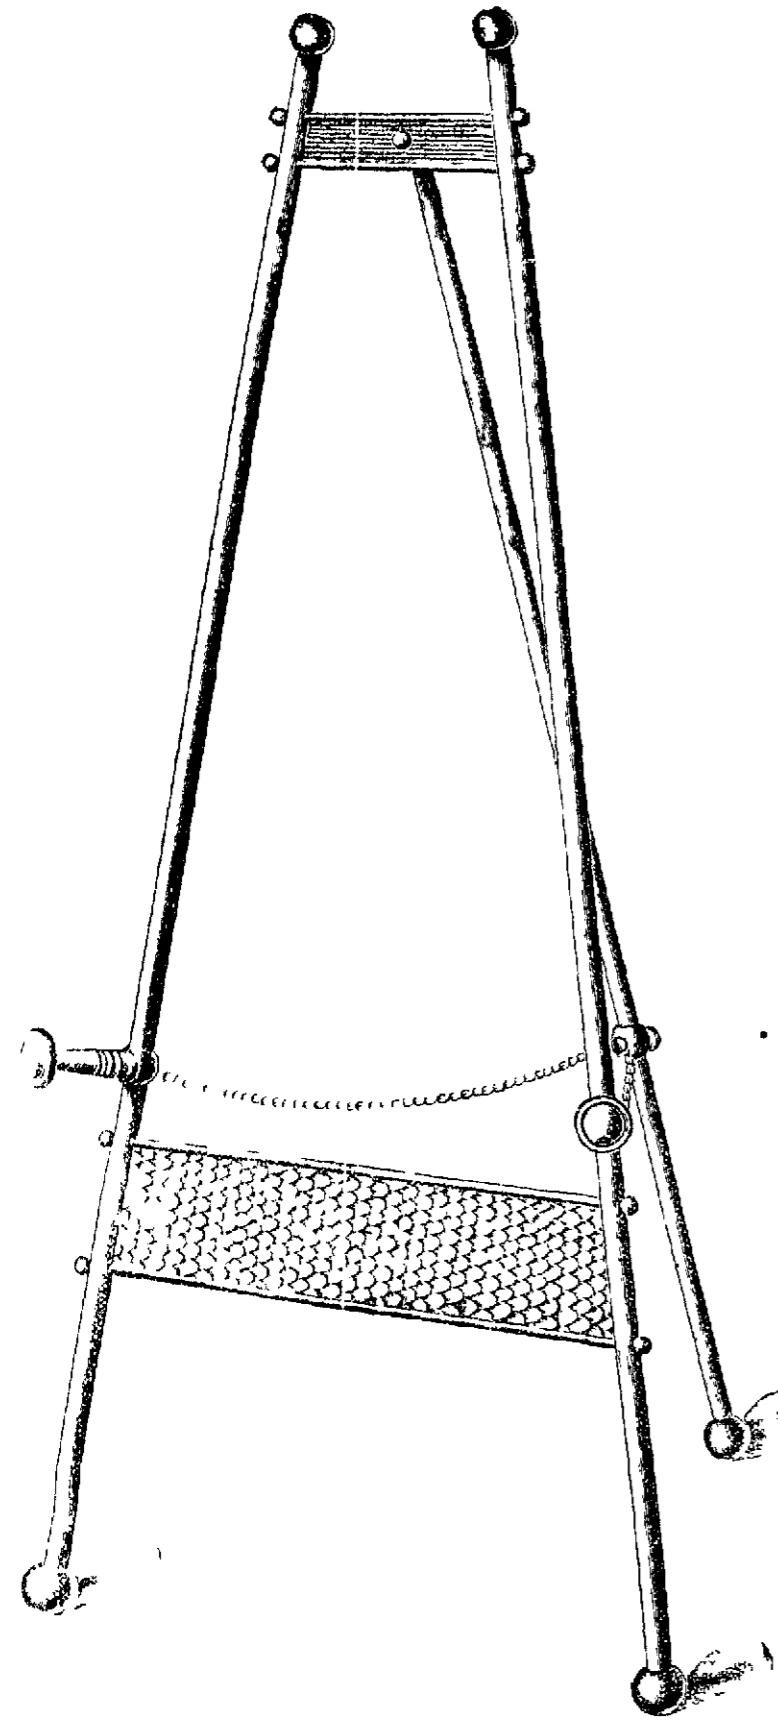

These are being brought here to be buried. The remains passed a vote of confidence in the committee and pledged itself to obey all orders which might be issued. The present state of the strike is given by Mr. Barry as follows:

"The strike is over, and I hope for a speedy adjustment of the trouble. On what basis he could not say, but he was of the opinion that a compromise of some sort would be effected. He said that he had been authorized by Mr. Powderly to act in this capacity, and was invested with full power to act."

Half a thousand Knights of Labor met yesterday afternoon in Germantown Hall in secret session. Mr. Barry made a report giving an outline of the negotiations which have been conducted with the employers since the beginning. The meeting passed a vote of confidence in the committee and pledged itself to obey all orders which might be issued.

The lodges are so remote from any town of importance that burial goods sufficient for the occasion are not to be had, and the system of sepulture related back to the old Catholic Church, or rather convent, which is one of the most dilapidated frame structures in the town. It looks from the outside like it is too frail to stand an ordinary Texas gale, and is virtually abandoned for general church services. It passes through great scenes of melancholy, although four of the largest trees in the town were blown down in a row, their stumps just touching the end of the building. At the time the parish priest was buried in a little room in the southeast corner of the building engaged in prayer for the deceased, the people, then the points of the heads of the prismatic trees protruded through the broken windows and almost touched the good man. This is the same old convent in which a historic incident in Texas history occurred: During the war three prisoners chained together, and who were bound with iron chains, were found in a little room in the southeast corner of the building engaged in prayer for the deceased, the people, then the points of the heads of the prismatic trees protruded through the broken windows and almost touched the good man. The cans will be labelled, boxed and shipped at the rate of twenty or thirty car loads per week until it is all shipped. The last weekly pay roll was $2,000. THE MORSE CASE

Statement From Mr. Johns, Giving the Facts

MORSE DEBATES REPUBLICAN—I have made it a rule of my life to make no reply to newspaper criticisms where they concern me in my private capacity as a citizen or a lawyer but I confess to sensitiveness when an attack is made on my official conduct, for I have ever regarded my oath of office as binding. In the case of Sunday morning, it is an unjust attack upon my conduct as state's attorney in the case of The People vs. Byron B. Morse. To this I desire to submit a hastily prepared reply, as I am compelled by engrossments to leave town to go away from Decatur to-day.

In August, 1885, Morse who represented himself as a traveling man presented a draft to Mr. J. B. Bullard which read as follows:

"I, John B. Bullard, do hereby bind myself to pay to the order of H. B. Morse two hundred and thirty five dollars, value received, and charge the same to the account of the First National Bank, Chicago, Ill."

Such representations were made by Morse to Mr. B. Bullard which read as follows:

"I, John B. Bullard, do hereby bind myself to pay to the order of H. B. Morse two hundred and thirty five dollars, value received, and charge the same to the account of the First National Bank, Chicago, Ill."
